“ Hey John...I remember the day your folks brought you home and you all came over to visit us. you wore combat boots even then..big brown hightops. we all laid on the floor and you would jump over us with your big boots. You were my neighbor and a bit of a pesky second brother and always part of "The Family." Oh the nights playing kick the can. I hope the next life is being glorious for you. And thanks for being so good to your folks. Your old childhood friend and neighbor. judith traverse

“ I recall making the acquaintance of John when we were attending Alva Junior High in the latter 1950's. Even then he was an unforgettable character and I immediately liked him. We were classmates at AHS graduating with the class of 1962. About the only time I can recollect seeing John in the years since then was at the class reunions we had. John would let you know in no uncertain words how he viewed a situation and could be abit rough around the edges. I feel fortunate that he was a fellow classmate and friend. My condolences to his family. We'll miss him at our reunions! 1-11-2012

“ John was always a good friend who would often show up for a card game or to go on a horse back ride when we were youngsters in Junior High School. His brother "Bud" would go to Colorado in the summer to work with my grandfather. John's dad was our family dentist. Through junior high and high school John was a good friend to our family.

My sympathies to his family.

“ I knew John from about the time we were five or six. We graduated from Alva High School and NWOSU together. We both entered the service during Vietnam and made it a career. Although John was in the Army and I was in the Air Force our paths crossed several times over the years in the States and in Europe as well as at DaNang in Vietnam. The last few years we have lived a few miles from each other he in Derby and I in Rose Hill KS. We would occassionally get together for coffee or breakfast. I regret that it wasn't more often. John was different, some would say difficult, but that was just John. He was my lifelong friend and I will miss him.
