“ I never had Mrs. Ewalt as a teacher, but helped her in the library in jr. high during my Study Hall. She was a friend...and a very fine lady. She was a cat lover and fed her furry friends only the best..cooked beef liver.

May you rest in peace Mrs. Ewalt... Kathy

“ Mrs Ewalt was a favorite English teacher when I was in her class at Alva High School. Didn't truly appreciate just how she was influencing my life until years later. While you are gone, you still live as long as we speak your name.

“ Margy Ewalt was my journalism teacher. She was such an excellent teacher that students looked forward to attending her class each day and learning how to write articles for the school newspaper. May God rest her soul.

“ Mrs. Ewalt was my 9th grade English teacher in junior high in the "old" high school. I remember that at least half of the class (the boys) were in love with her. And I think we read selections from Samuel Taylor Coleridge's "Rime of the Ancient Mariner" and "Kubla Kahn ("Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul"). She was a very good teacher and a fine person.

“ I remember listening to the world series baseball on the radio in Mrs. Ewalts 8th grade english class. The windows were open cause we had no AC and the Weinmaster's crow would come sit on the sill and Mrs. Ewalt would talk to the crow til it decided to move on.
