“ My sincerest condolences to the Melkus family. I only knew Missy though our membership is the club no body wants to belong to (Facebook's Metastatic Breast Cancer Group). She was always upbeat, and funny, and kept our spirits up. She will be missed and is in my prayers, as is her family.

“ Missy, our spunky, outspoken, tough, but genuinely soft, kept many of us laughing and smiling as we shared our road with this cancer. Never one to shy away from anything, we more than once just shook our heads, but it always came back to, it's our missy. You were the real deal, glad to have shared this journey.

“ Though I only knew Missy for a little over a year, I will never forget her and I miss her! We met via our Facebook metastatic breast cancer support group where Missy's spunk, humor and character shined. She made us all laugh SO many times and it was great medicine. Always in every comment her heart for her family, friends and farm was strong and apparent. I love you and miss you Missy-girl!!

“ I was friends with Missy from facebook in the Metastatic breast cancer group. She was a wonderful, kind person who spoke her mind. I loved her and even when our group had a 'bump' I defended her like crazy! She will truly be missed and never forgotten. Sending condolences to the entire family and much love. Sadly, Lisa

“ I had gotten to know Missy through the support group online for metastatic breast cancer. She was a wonderful woman full of humor, kindness and understanding for all of us going through this journey. I will miss her terribly and feel a deep sense of personal lose. I am so very sorry for your loss Linn..she spoke so lovingly of you and the boys and Yvette. You will all remain in prayers and memories.

“ Missy was my very special online friend. She was taken from us too soon. There simply are not words to explain how much we already miss her in our support group. Thank you for acknowledging us in her biography. She was a special friend to all of us. She made us all laugh through our pain. She made our burdens a little easier to bear. I will remember Missy with a smile on my face as the tears run down.

“ My heart goes out to Linn, Brandon, and Christopher. Missy was a wonderful person. We had so much fun growing up together. Even though our paths in life took us to different places, we always had and will have a special bond. I will miss her spunky spirit and will love her always. Even though she is gone I can still see her in the eyes of her children and can feel her presence everywhere.
